III. President’s Message

For me, this was very serious within 10 days of the bite. I was lucky that my doctor is an outdoorsman who took a SWAG* and got it right. It prevented hospitalization. A deer tick from the brush area around my house caused the Anaplasmosis. See: http://www.health.state.mn.us/divs/idepc/diseases/anaplasmosis/basics.html
A healthy Dose of high concentration DEET on my pants cuffs seems to keep them at bay.

*SWAG = Scientific Wild Ass Guess.

As a further caution, There are some rumors that some deer ticks can now transmit spinal meningitis as well.

Several members have also reported unpleasant encounters with dear ticks some with serious consequences.

For example, Tom Peter writes, “I hate ticks - especially deer ticks! Last year at this time I was commissioned to remove a cottonwood wood branch that was impeding an oak tree growing beneath it. During the process, I needed to walk though some brush to see the trees from a distance. 36 hours later, a deer tick was making his getaway after stealing a batch of my blood! The good news, I found him before he escaped and took him in for analysis- the bad news… taking drugs to avert Lyme disease.”

Important take aways for anyone going into the brush.
1. Use liberal amounts of DEET on pants cuff.
2. Deer ticks can be on your body for some time until they bite. Check yourself regularly.
3. If you even think you may have been bitten, see a doctor immediately.

Deer Ticks

You could title this article. "Don't let size fool you. It did me.”

I remember the tick that gave me anaplasmosis. It was large, wayyyyyy too large to be a deer tick. They are always described as the size of a pin head.

It was just a bit smaller than a full size dog tick, but it had unusual markings on it which left me wondering what it was. But I definitely ruled out deer tick due to it's size.

I could not have been more wrong.

If you don't go into brush, you can ignore this. Deer ticks are out! For those of you who know me, there is not a lot that makes me overly cautious. Deer ticks do!!!!!

I found my first deer tick of the season crawling up my leg yesterday. I have been treated twice for Lyme, and once for Anaplasmosis. The Lyme was nothing compared to the serious sudden onset of the other. All were the result of tick bites, both deer and black legged ticks.

Everyone seems to know about Lyme, but not the more immediately serious anaplasmosis.

B. Lunch Gatherings
1. Hamburger Club

The next meeting of the hamburger club will be Wednesday June 10, at the 50’s, Club, Brooklyn Center 11:30 to 1:30. Mike Hunter advises that in the summer the group will convene on the Wednesday of the week after the MWA membership meeting. In the fall, the schedule will revert back to the normal Thursday of the week after the MWA membership meeting. The meeting place is most convenient for those on the north side of town. But all are invited to chat and chew.

   C. Area/Regional Turning Meetings
      1. Plymouth Area/Regional Turning Meeting

Samples of the work of the group are shown below

The Plymouth Area Group met Wednesday April 27. Present from left to right were Wayne Johnson, Fred Hegele, Steve Mages, Avi Pelc, and Al Feist. Pete Bryant also attended and took the picture. The highlight of the meeting was the treats provided by Steve and his wife, Judy. They were outstanding. The group huddled over the treats most of the night.

Some notes from the meeting:
   1. The group started to turn a natural edge bowl, however, it was soon realized that setting up to do that was a major task. It was agreed that the project would be delayed until next meeting and Steve would set up ahead of time.
   2. Steve graciously gave all attendees a piece of recently cut butternut wood.
3. Al Feist is looking for a way to make a rolling pin that looks like a barber pole. No one knew how. Can anyone help him?
4. Wayne Johnson etched the tube for a pen and then molded acrylic plastic over it. It made an impressive pen body.

VII. Special Interest Items

A. American Craft Council Photos by Todd Williams

From April 10-12, MWA turners demonstrated at the annual American Crafts Council show at Xcel Energy Center in St. Paul. MWA members included Linda Ferber, Rick Auge, Neil Robinette, Gar Brown, Mark Debe, Paul Laes, Bob Boettcher and Todd Williams. Also turning was Linda’s guest Ana Lapeguard from Arizona.

The show is an amazing collection of creative craft endeavors, including a few woodturners! We all had time to tour the show before or after our turning times. The following are some pictures of the displays from the woodturners actually selling their creations at the show. I asked for and got permission from each artist separately. Some very impressive work! Check out the vases by Michael Mode and the hollow forms by Gordon Browning.

We were strictly guest demonstrators and not allowed to sell anything. The pictures are attached in the hopes of inspiring other club members to let loose their creativity and come up with new things!

Be sure to volunteer next year to demonstrate at this fun show.

B. AAW Annual Meeting

The AAW’s 29th Annual International symposium will be held in Pittsburg June 25-28, 2015. AAW has sent out three flyers to announce the event. These flyers give three excellent reasons why you should attend the event regardless of your skill level. The flyers are summarized below and they are presented to give you a flavor of an exceptional learning opportunity. Go now or plan to go next year!

1. Join us for the broadest selection of woodturning learning experiences anywhere!

The AAW’s 29th Annual International Symposium, June 25-28, 2015, in Pittsburgh features informative sessions that have been carefully selected to meet the needs of turners of wide-ranging skill levels and interest areas. You’ll take away knowledge, tips and techniques sure to enhance your woodturning experience! Here are two of the exceptional demonstrators you’ll be able to see!

Nick Cook

Nick Cook is a full time production turner producing a wide variety of gift items, one of a kind bowls, and vessels, as well as work for furniture makers and millwork contractors. He spends much of his time teaching both individuals and groups throughout the country. He is a founding member of the American Association of Woodturners and was named its 12th honorary lifetime member. Nick has done workshops for woodturning groups in Australia, England, Canada, and Taiwan, and has also participated in woodturning symposiums in New Zealand and Ireland.

Sessions
- Light Up Your Life with Turned Table Lamps
- Turned for Use: Production Items for the Marketplace
- Turning Peppermills & Salt Shakers
Avelino Samuel

Avelino Samuel was born and raised in Coral Bay, St. John in an environment that laid the basis for his development as an accomplished woodturner. In this lush, tropical setting he became acquainted with native trees and learned firsthand to appreciate their beauty and usefulness to humankind.

"I try to create objects that showcase the beauty of wood through different shapes, finishes and surfaces. Sometimes, this is experienced by allowing the material to be the dominant voice; in other instances, the material (wood) is worked to accent its character. This may take the form of carving, burning or coloring ... all in an effort to create an object that appeals to the eye and tactile senses."

Sessions
- Spiral Vessels: Turning & Layout
- Spiral Vessels: Carving, Sanding & Texturing
- Turning Finials, Collars & Feet
2. You'll be able to enrich your turning experience by learning something new!

Discover segmenting with Craig Kirks!
Craig discovered his passion for designing and creating objects from wood at a young age and spent many years building various styles of furniture. In 2007, he purchased his first lathe to make furniture pieces, then tried turning bowls. He only had dimensional lumber available, so he glued pieces together to make the blanks. That was his start in segmented woodturning and when he discovered the opportunities it offered for creative expression. “The combination of colors and textures created just can't be duplicated any other way,” he says.

Classes
- Curved Design Elements for Segmented Woodturnings
- Making a Segmented Torus Vessel
- Curved Design Elements for Segmented Woodturnings
- Methods & Jigs for Accurate Segmented Work

Explore finials with Cindy Drozda!
Cindy has worked wood professionally since age 19. The need to make a pair of chairs brought her to woodturning, but it was the pictures of bowls, vessels, and boxes in the back of Dale Nish’s book that really got her hooked. Cindy's elegant lidded vessels and boxes with delicate finials bring a contemporary flair to classic forms. Her trademarks are precise techniques, fine details, and pleasing forms.

Classes
- Fabulous Finials
- Maximizing Burl Figure
3. If you're a novice, there are plenty of sessions that will help you expand your woodturning experience.

In fact, AAW Honorary Lifetime Member, Al Hockenbery, has compiled a list of rotations especially well-suited to beginners. “The AAW symposium has a lot to offer newer turners. Three expert woodturning friends, Ron Browning, Rudolph Lopez, and Sherry Hockenbery, have helped me build a list of demos we suggest for a newer turner. Keep in mind that both experts and beginners can learn from every demonstration and use our list as a starting point or as a reference to fill in time slots. I encourage every attendee to read through all the descriptions and attend those that catch your eye. Keep in mind, most of the demos are given again in another time period and there are no bad choices - but there are some choices that are a better fit with the woodturning direction you want to take. Bring a note pad and have fun! “

IX. The 2014 MWA Membership Survey: Summary Part 3 (Mark Debe, Treasurer)
The 2014 MWA Membership Survey: Summary
Part 3, by Mark Debe, Treasurer

In the February and April newsletters we presented the first two of a three-part summary of the quantifiable results from the 2014 fall survey sent out by the MWA board. For a summary introduction to the survey objectives, format, question types and response levels, please see February’s newsletter, where results were presented from the demographic multiple-choice questions, Q1 – Q5. In the April newsletter we summarized the responses presented from questions Q6 – Q8 dealing with communication preferences, and Q9 – Q13 with experience level. In this final part we summarize responses to the questions on programming, Q14 – Q22 (excepting Q16 –Q18 which asked for written responses and are not summarized here), and Q23 - Q27, the outreach questions.

Programming Questions (Q14, 15, 19 - 22)

- Monthly meetings and large group professional demonstrations are the most highly attended MWA events by the respondents. Small group professional demonstrations and the instant gallery/president’s challenge are participated in only about 10-12% of the time. Fig. Q14.
- Compared to the past year, in the coming year respondents expect to participate in more small group pro-demo’s and the instant gallery/president’s challenges.
- Approximately half of the respondents who consider themselves beginners would be interested in having one-on-one time with an experienced mentor. Fig. Q19.
- Approximately half of the respondents would be interested in receiving written information on the basic topics listed in Q19.
- More than half of the respondents attend MWA events for a balance of education and social interactions, and slightly less than half for just educational reasons. Fig. Q21.
- 74% of 110 respondents may or do have friends or family members who would be interested in attending MWA social events. Fig. Q22.

Outreach Questions (Q23 - Q27)

- 86% of the respondents are familiar with the Beads of Courage program.
- 80% of the 121 respondents are interested in donating a vessel to the Beads of Courage program.
- Only two respondents know one to two individuals who would like to pursue woodturning but feel limited by a disability.
- However up to 24 of the 109 respondents to Q26 would be interested in having a better turning experience given their own special needs.
- Of the 113 respondents to Q27, there are potentially 9 to 16 or more individuals in the community known by the respondents who may be prevented from woodturning due to financial limitations.
